

SENSING RIPENESS: WHERE ARE OUR BETTER ANGELS?

Take a few minutes to think about all of the people and organizations you can that you think are politically tolerant and/or able to have constructive conversations across political divides:

Based on your list, what is your assessment of what characteristics these people or groups have in common?

SENSING RIPENESS: WHERE ARE OUR BETTER ANGELS?

What are some lessons we can take away from these people and organizations? How might you incorporate these lessons in your own daily life and interactions?
